BUSINESS HIL—JOURNAL TIME OF OFFICERS FROM LEAVE LEAVE BY 40 DAYS.

(b) An officer, serving in India or Arabia, returns after leaving India from the post or frontier upon which he returns to the country. The date of arrival at such post or frontier (leave) must be certified by the British Consul, or, if there be no British Consul, by the officer himself.

Art. 18,
(Ship X).

For clause (b) of Article 187, the following shall be substituted, namely:—

"(b) The Local Government may refuse to grant the full amount of leave applied for in any case, and should, by the exercise of this power, so regulate the date of an officer's return from leave as to cause as little change as possible in administrative arrangements."

Local Governments should not grant leave of any description to an extent which would unduly deplete the strength of a service or department available for active duty. Consequently, when the duty strength has been reduced to a point which, in the opinion of the Local Government, is for the time being as essential as possible, no further leave of any description should be given save in cases of the most absolute necessity, such as sickness or most urgent private affairs, until the strength available for duty has increased. In applying this principle, Local Governments may take into special consideration the case of officers who apply for privilege leave in India, for, as they can be readily recalled if necessary, they stand on a different footing to officers who are out of government service.

2. The Local Government may, after such conditions as it may consider necessary, decide to grant or refuse to grant leave in the case of officers holding Indian appointments not held by members of a regular government service.

3. When the leave of an officer in the above provisions is granted under the Government of India or in another province, the Local Government should take particular note that the rules of other Governments are properly complied with.

For Article 188, the following shall be substituted, namely:—

"188. An officer who is entitled to duty before the expiry of leave of any kind, if the return to duty is optional, is entitled to an allowance. If the return to duty is compulsory, he is entitled:—

(a) if the leave from which he is entitled to rest of India:—

(i) to the commutation in Article 4 (ii) and 117 subject to the conditions and limitations specified therein; and

(ii) to leave allowance during the voyage to India and for the period from the date of landing in India to the date of leaving his appointment, at the journey time allowance which he would have drawn had he not been recalled but simply returned to the commencement of his leave;

(b) if the leave from which he is entitled to rest of India:—

(i) to the commutation in Article 117 subject to the conditions and limitations specified therein; and

(ii) to be treated (if the leave is from leave other than privilege leave) as on duty from the date on which he starts for the station to which he is ordered, but he is entitled until he reports his appointment to draw leave allowance only.

Note.—(a) When recalled or when before the expiry of his leave should formerly state whether the return to duty is optional or compulsory. When recalled on other leave but not of India, he is not entitled to the above through the Secretary of State."

For Article 189, the following shall be substituted, namely:—

"Employment during leave."

189. An officer who is on leave may not take service, or accept any employment which involves the receipt of a fee or honorarium, without obtaining the previous sanction of:—

(i) the Secretary of State, if the officer is residing in Europe, North Africa, America, or the West Indies; and modified certificate will only be admissible if the extension was due at the time the original furlough was granted.

4. In the case of a Constitutional Officer the Local Government should make a reference to the Governor General, India Medical Service, before granting the extension.

(5) The Secretary of State reserves to himself the power of granting extensions in circumstances of leave to an officer in any case in which it appears to him that sufficient ground has been shown for the application being made without the previous approval of the Local Government, but in the event of its being found necessary by the Secretary of State to telegraph to India in regard to any such application, the cost of the telegram to and from India will be charged to the applicant.

NOTE.—(The Secretary of State in granting extensions of leave continues authority to govern the extension of application, if there is at any time correspondence with the Local Government in India.)

(6) The authority in India, by which the leave was originally granted, is empowered, in any case in which it is satisfied that the extension of an officer within the period of his leave was due to circumstances beyond his control, and of such a nature that an application to the Secretary of State for an extension was imperative before commencement, or that such extension was the administrative necessity, to extend retroactively extension of furlough or leave up to a maximum period of fourteen days. It is also empowered in the case of an officer returning from furlough on medical certificate to extend an extension, if the circumstances seem to require it, up to a maximum of fourteen days inclusive of any short extension that may have been granted by the Secretary of State.

NOTE.—(This Article applies to the Military Officers subject to the Military Leave Rules.)

SUMMARY III.—PROVISIONS.

301. Subject to the provisions of Article 213, furlough for not more than two years at a time may be granted to an officer as follows:—

(a) On medical certificate—conditionally; see Articles 213 to 215.

(b) Without medical certificate—subject to the condition that the furlough is "due".

302. In respect of special private affairs, an officer may be granted furlough for a period not exceeding the maximum "due" to him, provided that furlough which is not "due" shall not be granted for a period exceeding six months at one time or twice within the whole period. An officer who has no special furlough under this Article may not again be granted a furlough on the same condition until the furlough referred to by him after his return to duty exceeds in amount the furlough granted under this Article as was not "due".

303. If in the interests of the public service, it appears desirable for furlough to be suspended with the Local Government, will have full discretion in suspending which should be granted, and in so doing it may take into consideration the following circumstances:—

(3) The amount and character of the previous extensions of leave which they have received.

(4) The fact that an officer was temporarily recalled from the leave last enjoyed by him.

SUMMARY IV.—EXTRAORDINARY AND CASUAL LEAVE.

306. (a) Subject always to the provisions of any Statute applicable to the case, the authority competent to grant leave may, in special circumstances and when no other kind of leave is by rule admissible, grant leave of absence from duty otherwise than under these Regulations, provided that:—

(i) an officer absent from duty on leave so granted shall receive no remuneration or pay.

(ii) if he is a member of the Indian Civil Service or a Military Officer subject to the Civil Leave Rules, he shall return on his own responsibility to his duty on the expiry of his leave, unless he is directed to the contrary by the Local Government.

(3) No officer is entitled to extraordinary leave, but subject to the provisions of Article 213, there is no limit to the length or frequency of leave under this Article.

1. The Local Government may suspend an officer during the absence of the officer on extraordinary leave on the ground only that such kind of leave is by rule inadmissible.

307. A Military Officer subject to the Civil Leave Rules, who has exhausted the full period of furlough admissible to him under these Regulations and who is granted extraordinary leave on medical certificate, will continue to be treated as wholly in the Civil Service for all purposes, with the exception that, if the Medical Board at the India Office reports that there is no prospect of the officer returning to duty within a reasonable period, he will be placed on Military half pay. If an officer once placed on half pay is afterwards permitted to return to the service but not return to duty in India, he will not be entitled to be reclassified in Civil employment, but will be placed in Civil or Military duty as may be directed in India.

308. Articles 300 and 307 do not refer to annual leave for short periods. Such leave is not recognized and is not subject to any rule. Technically, therefore, an officer on annual leave is not treated as absent from duty, and his salary is not interrupted. Casual leave, however, must not be given so as to create overlap of the rules regarding—

(1) Duty of sick leave.

(2) Change of station.

(3) Leave of absence.

R. C. WOOD,

Deputy Secretary to Government.

Fort St. George, October 18, 1922.

No. 142.—The following resolution of the Government of India is published:—

DEPARTMENT OF INDUSTRIES AND LABOURS

Bombay, the 12th September 1922.

No. R. 217.—Under the existing rules for the supply of articles for the public service which were promulgated in 1903, articles which are not manufactured in India need, except in certain specified cases, be purchased through the India Stores Department, London. Where tenders are called for by that Department, they have to be made in terms of existing and where the necessity arises of making a choice between the Indian and the foreign articles a close comparison of the relative effect in India is required and the tender offered in London is sterling is required.

The view has been held in many quarters that the existing principles and procedures are not those best calculated to advance the general policy of Government in this matter, viz., "to make their purchases of stores for the public service in such a way as to encourage the development of the industries of the country to the utmost possible extent, consistent with economy and efficiency." It has been strongly urged that the introduction of a system providing for the purchase in India, as far as possible, of all articles, whether Indian or foreign, would not only secure the interests both of Indian industries and of purchasing departments. These views were referred in a resolution adopted by the Legislative Assembly in February 1922 which indicated that in the view of the Assembly the existing system of stores purchase was not in the best interests of India and that it should be replaced by a system of open tenders for delivery in India. And the Government of India, after full consideration of the question, have decided to accept the main principle underlying that resolution, viz., that it should be the general rule that articles required for the public service should be purchased in India, where tenders will be called for in respect.

2. In order to give effect to the policy now adopted, the Government of India have issued the draft rules appended to the resolution which embody their provisional suggestions in the subject and are intended to supersede all previous rules relating to the purchase of stores other than printing and stationery stores. The draft rules will be taken into consideration on or after the 1st December 1922 and any addition or suggestion received with respect to these rules before that date will be considered by the Government of India. The rules, as finally approved, will not be brought into force until a year has elapsed after publication in their final form. The object of this suggestion is to give time to the departments and firms who may be affected to make the necessary adjustments in their procedures in order to conform to the provisions of the new rules.

Draft rules for the supply of articles required to be purchased for the public service.

Principle

The policy of the Government of India is to make their purchases of stores for the public service in such a way as to encourage the development of the industries of the country to the utmost possible extent, consistent with economy and efficiency, and the following rules which are applicable to the purchase of stores (other than printing and stationery stores) for the Government of India and the provinces other than Government provinces, are promulgated in accordance with this policy. These rules supersede all previous rules on the subject.

In order to give effect to the above policy, Departments of the Government of India or of a Province expressly authorized by them in this behalf may, when they are supplied that such resources are justified, allow a limited degree of purchases in respect of price to articles purchased or manufactured in India.

Subject to the above, preference in making purchases will be given:—

(a) To articles which are produced in India in the form of raw materials or are manufactured in India from materials produced in India or articles wholly or partially manufactured in India from required materials or articles not manufactured in India, provided that the quality is substantially good for the purpose.

(4) To articles wholly or partially manufactured in India from imported materials, after articles not manufactured in India, provided that the quality is sufficiently good for the purpose.

(5) To articles held in stock in India over those which would need to be specially imported, provided that they are of suitable type and requisite quality.

Rule 2.—Except as provided in Rules 6 and 7, all articles required to be purchased for the public service shall be purchased in India.

Rule 3.—Unless, either because of the smallness of the order, or for some other sufficient reason to be recorded, it is not in the public interest to do so, tenders, tenders shall be invited for the supply of all articles which are purchased in India under these rules. It shall be a condition on which tenders are invited that supply shall be made in India for payment in rupees in India, and no tender which fails to comply with this condition shall be accepted.

Rule 4.—All articles, whether manufactured in India or abroad, for which specifications and/or tests have been prescribed by competent authority, shall before acceptance be subjected to inspection and/or the test or tests during or before or after despatch from the supplier's premises, which have been prescribed either in the specifications or otherwise.

Rule 5.—Important plant and machinery and iron and steel work shall be obtained only from firms approved by the Chief Controller of Stores, Indian Stores Department, and specified in the list issued by him from time to time.

Rule 6.—Nothing in the rules shall be deemed to prohibit the purchase of articles by one Department or Ministry from another.

Rule 7.—

(a) Books;

(b) Children's books;

(c) Articles for experiments or research purposes;

(d) Cloth, glass, rubber, plastic, machinery and probably others, including linen for residents which are furnished by Government;

(e) Copper, steel and other iron-ore articles produced and purchased in Australia;

(a) Where the value of the purchase exceeds Rs. 5000 the purchasing officer shall place a record in a record for not purchasing in India.

(b) The purchasing officer may, at his discretion, after obtaining the sanction, that he requires by order in the India, or in Department, London, or purchase direct from an alien or a foreign agent.

(c) Payments for articles purchased abroad under this rule is to be made either to the United Kingdom or to the supplier by the purchasing officer. Payments for articles purchased under this rule in the United Kingdom shall be made through the High Commissioner for India.

Rule 7.—Listed weapons, munitions of war, technical apparatus and equipment, and any other arms required by the Royal Navy or Air Force of the Crown in India for which drawings, patterns, specifications or designs have been issued, specified or approved by the Admiralty, War Office, Air Ministry, Government of India or Commonwealth of India, shall be obtained by order in the India from the Department, London, unless they are available in India or elsewhere, or design. Each such group shall be capable of providing a full supply of water, in accordance with the requirements specified in sub-rule (1) of rule 1, in one or more regions of water service pipes. The service pipes shall be of metal, with hoseheads arranged that the fire hose may be coupled thereto, and the powerful jet of water may be rapidly and effectively brought to bear by means of nozzle lengths of hose from each branch, upon any part of each deck space occupied by passengers or crew, when the water supply and fire hose are closed. Where the water service has an exposed deck, the hoseheads shall be so arranged with the foregoing requirements shall, in the case of vessels whose decks are laid after the 1st April 1929, be fixed on both sides of the deck.

Provided that the main engine machinery pump shall be allowed to stand as one of the pumps required to be available when so fixed as to be capable of serving the purpose of such pump.

(b) In each firing space there shall be placed a receptacle containing by order of fuel, and, besides impregnated with soda, or other approved dry material, and means for distributing the same.

(c) In each boiler room, and in each of the machinery spaces in which a part of the oil fuel installation is situated, there shall be provided one approved portable chemical extinguisher of a type discharging from an other approved medium suitable for spraying gas fires.

(d) Means shall be provided whereby fresh air may be rapidly discharged and distributed over the whole of the lower portion of any boiler room, or of any machinery space in which oil fuel is used, or in which any oil is stored. The quantity of fresh air which may be discharged shall be equal to the volume of the space in which it is used, and the whole area of the plating formed in any one compartment by the lower bottom plating, so by the shall plating of the space if there is a double bottom tank. If the engine and boiler rooms are not entirely separate, and fuel oil can drain from the boiler room, before into the engine room, the engine and boiler rooms shall be treated as one compartment. Provided that if other effective means are available for combating fire and hot apparatus may be operated from outside the compartment in which the fire occurs, the Governor General in Council may exempt from the requirements of this clause ships whose decks were laid before the 1st April 1929 on which it would not be reasonable to require the fitting of large fresh installations.

(e) There shall further be provided one extinguisher of at least 5 gallons capacity in steam ships having two boiler rooms, and two such extinguishers in steam ships with more than one boiler room. These extinguishers shall be provided with hose or other suitable for reaching any part of the boiler room and spaces containing oil fuel pumping pipes. In the case of a metal boat an addition shall be made to the cubic capacity of the watertight compartments, so as to give its buoyancy equal to that of the wooden boat.

B.—Open lifeboats with internal and external buoyancy.

The internal buoyancy of a wooden boat of this type shall be provided by watertight air cases, the total volume of which shall be at least equal to seven-eighths of the cubic capacity of the boat.

In the external buoyancy is of cork, its volume, for a wooden boat, shall not be less than one-thirtieth of the cubic capacity of the boat; if of any material other than cork, its volume and distribution shall be such that the buoyancy and stability of the boat are not less than that of a similar boat provided with external buoyancy of cork.

In the case of a metal boat an addition shall be made to the cubic capacity of the watertight compartments, so as to give its buoyancy equal to that of the wooden boat.

C.—Protect lifeboats having a well deck and fixed watertight lifeboats.

The area of the well deck of a boat of this type shall be at least thirty per cent of the total deck area. The height of the well deck above the waterline at all points shall be at least equal to one-hundredth part of the length of the boat, the height being in one and a half per cent of the length of the boat at the ends of the well.

The freeboard of a boat of this type shall be such as to provide for a reserve buoyancy of at least thirty-five per cent.

All the conditions laid down for boats of Class 1 shall be applied to boats of this type, which differ from those of Class 1 only in regard to the bottoms.

C.—Pontoon lifeboats having a solid hull and watertight interior.

The minimum freeboard of boats of this type is independent of their length and depends only upon their depth. The depth of the boat shall be measured vertically from the underside of the gunwale strake to the top of the deck at the side amidships and the freeboard shall be measured from the top of the deck at the side amidships to the water-level when the boat is heeled.

For the purposes of this test:—

(a) The persons lost shall be loaded with a weight of iron equal to that of the complement of personal and equipment.

(b) In the case of a boat 20 feet in length, two tons of water shall be placed from the boat in a time not exceeding the following:—

Over 30	30 seconds

In the case of a boat having a length greater or less than 20 feet the weight of water to be placed in the same time shall be for each foot directly proportional to the length of the boat.

(c) No boat shall be accepted as a lifeboat the buoyancy of which depends upon the previous adjustment of one of the principal parts of the hull.

(d) All boats shall be fitted for the use of a steering gear.

(e) All boats shall be permanently marked to the satisfaction of the Harbour Master, in such a way as to indicate plainly their dimensions and the number of persons for which they are approved. Marks that have been properly marked need not be re-measured, unless there is reason to believe that the marks have been tampered with or are otherwise deficient or improper.

(f) The number of persons which a lifeboat shall be deemed to carry shall be equal to the greatest whole number obtained by dividing the capacity of the boat in cubic feet, or the surface of the boat in square feet, as the case may be, calculated as provided by rules 30 and 31, by the standard unit of capacity, or unit of surface, defined below.

(g) The cubic capacity in feet of a boat, which the number of persons is determined by the surface shall be assumed to be ten times the number of persons which the boat is authorized to carry.

(h) The standard units of capacity and surface are as follows:—

Unit of capacity.	Cubic feet.
Class 1A	50
Class 1B	50
Class 2	30
Unit of surface.	Square feet.
Class 1A	40
Class 1B	40
Class 2	40
Class 3	40
Class 4	40

(i) The Harbour General is General may accept a smaller device for persons boats of Class 1C and Class 2D, if he is satisfied after trial that the number of persons for whom there is making accommodation in the boat in question is greater than the number obtained by applying the above device provided always that the device adapted to plans of 4 feet shall never be less than 3.

(j) The number of persons obtained by the above rules shall be reduced:—

(1) If it is greater than the number of persons for whom there is proper seating accommodation, the lesser number being determined in such a way that the persons when seated do not interfere in any way with the use of the boat, or

(2) If, in the case of boats other than open boats of Class 1, the foreboard when the boat is fully loaded is less than the foreboard required by these rules.

(k) If the Harbour General is satisfied as to the number of persons any boat is fit to carry he may require the boat to be tested, when with the increased number of persons on board.

(l) The Harbour may limit the number of persons to be allowed in boats with very fine ends and in boats very full in form.

(m) Two children, under the age of twelve years may be counted in place of one adult person.

31. (1) In the case of an open boat of Class 1 the cubic capacity of the boat shall be determined by the following formula:—

$$\text{Capacity} = \frac{1}{12} (A + 2B + 4C).$$

2. Denotes the depth of the boat in feet from the keel to the planking or plating at the stem, in the corresponding point at the stern post; in the case of a boat with a square stern the length is measured to the inside of the transom.

3. Denotes respectively the area of the cross-section of the quarter length forward, amidships, and the quarter length aft, which correspond to the three points obtained by dividing a line four equal parts (the areas corresponding to the two ends of the boat are considered negligible).

The areas A, B, C shall be deemed to be given in square feet by the successive application of the following formula, in each of the three successive cases:—

$$\text{Area} = \frac{1}{20} (a + 4b + 2c + 4d + e).$$

a. Denotes the depth measured in feet inside the planking or plating from the keel to the level of the gunwale, or, in certain cases, to a lower level, as determined hereafter.

b, c, d, e denote the horizontal breadth of the boat measured in feet in the inside of the planking at the upper and lower points of the depth, and at the three points obtained by dividing a line four equal parts (a and e being the breadths at the extreme points, and c at the middle point, if 4).

(2) If the slope of the gunwale, measured at the two points situated at the quarter of the length of the boat from the ends, exceeds 1 per cent of the length of the boat, the depth employed in calculating the area of the cross-sections A and C shall be deemed to be the depth amidships plus 1 per cent of the length of the boat.

(3) If the depth of the boat amidships exceeds 45 per cent of the breadth, the depth employed in calculating the area of the amidships cross section B shall be deemed to be equal to 45 per cent of the breadth, and the depth employed in calculating the area of the quarter length sections A and C shall be obtained by increasing the last figure by an amount equal to 1 per cent of the length of the boat, provided that in no case shall the depths employed in the calculation exceed the actual depths at these points.

(4) If the depth of the boat is greater than 4 feet, the number of persons given by the application of these rules shall be reduced in proportion to the ratio of 4 feet to the actual depth, until the boat has been tested with that number of persons on board all wearing life-jackets, and the test has proved satisfactory.

(5) The cubic capacity of a boat may be assumed to be the product of the length, the breadth and the depth multiplied by 0.5 or some other value it is shown that the formula does not give a greater capacity than that obtained by the above method. The dimensions shall then be measured to the following accuracy:—

Length: From the intersection of the outside of the planking with the stem to the corresponding point at the stern post or, in the case of a square sterned boat, in the after side of the transom.

Breadth: From the outside of the planking at the point where the breadth of the boat is greatest.

Depth: Amidships inside the planking from the keel to the level of the gunwale, but the depth used in calculating the cubic capacity may not in any case exceed 45 per cent of the breadth.

In all cases the shipowner shall have the right to require that the cargo capacity of the boat shall be determined by means of a survey.

(3) If the cargo is piled in overheads, the bottom of the overhead shall be considered as the general level determining the depth of the boat.

(4) The cargo capacity of a motor boat shall be calculated from the power capacity obtained from the power capacity obtained by deducting a reserve capacity that conveyed by the wireless telegraphy installation, the searchlight, the motor and its accessories.

34. In the case of motor boats and of open deck boats, the cargo capacity of motor boats and of open deck boats shall be determined by the following formula:—

$$\text{Area} = \frac{1}{12} (2a + 12d + 4c + 2bd + 2d).$$

It denotes the depth in feet from the intersection of the centre of the planking with the stem to the corresponding point at the stern post.

a, b, c, d, e denote the horizontal breadth in feet outside the planking at the points obtained by dividing e into four equal parts and subdividing the foremost and aftermost parts into two equal parts and e being the breadth at the extreme aft-stem-post, e at the middle point of the length and b and d at the intermediate points.

35. No boat carried in compliance with these rules shall have a capacity of less than 225 cubic feet.

36. In the tests prescribed by these rules for determining the number of weight of persons, persons shall be assumed to be an adult person weighing a half-ton.

In verification of fireboard the motor boats shall be loaded with a weight of at least 140 lb. for each adult person that the motor boat is authorized to carry.

37. (1) The davits shall be of approved form and shall be suitably placed to the satisfaction of the Harbour Licensing Board.

General in Council. They shall be fixed at one or more of the davits in each position that the boats can be efficiently lowered from them, and shall be so spaced and placed that the boats can be swung out with facility. Davits need not be fixed in the bows of a ship, but they may be fixed in any other position in the ship provided that the boats are not brought into dangerous proximity to a pier or to the side of a wharf.

(2) The davits, falls, blocks, and all other gear required for lowering the boats, shall be of sufficient strength to the satisfaction of the Harbour Licensing Board. In the case of motor passenger ships licensed on or after the 1st April 1929 they shall be of such strength that the boats can be lowered safely with the full complement of persons and equipment, the ship being assumed to have a list of 15 degrees; provided that this requirement shall not apply to any motor passenger ship after a foreign-going steamship of Class I or Class II whose the height of the load-line above the waterline of the vessel's lightest as a group draught does not exceed 15 feet.

(3) In the case of motor passenger ships licensed on or after the 1st April 1929, the davits shall be fitted with gear of sufficient power to ensure that the boats can be hoisted and lowered at maximum rate in a slack, the lowering of the boats is possible, as the davits shall be of the quadrant or other such type as will ensure the above condition being fulfilled; provided that this requirement shall not apply to any motor passenger ship other than a foreign-going steamship of Class I or Class II.

II, where the height of the boat deck above the waterline at the vessel's lightest as a group draught does not exceed 15 feet.

(4) The boat's falls shall be long enough to lower the boat into the water with safety when the vessel is light. Life lines shall be fitted to the davits, and shall be long enough to reach the water when the vessel is light. Boats shall not be attached to the lower tackle blocks.

(5) Boats shall be lowered for speedily, but not necessarily simultaneously or automatically, detaching the boats from the falls; the boats shall under davits shall be attached to the falls and kept ready for service; the points of attachment of the boats to the falls shall be sufficiently away from the side of the boats to ensure that being easily swung clear of the davits; the boats' blocks shall be of such construction and arrangement as shall be satisfactory to the Harbour Licensing Board.

(6) Where more boats than one are served by the same set of davits, arrangements shall be made to prevent the falls fouling when they are lowered, and, where more than two boats are served by the same set of davits, these shall be provided as approved appliances for lowering the boats in turn and rapidly.

(7) The Harbour Licensing Board may accept in lieu of davits or sets of davits any other appliances, appliances as arrangements, which appear to him at least as efficient as davits for placing the boats in the water.

38. Approved buoyant apparatus, whether buoyant apparatus—buoyant deck seats, buoyant deck seats or other buoyant apparatus, shall be deemed sufficient, as far as buoyancy is concerned, for a person, so number of persons to be carried by dividing the number of persons of less weight it is capable of supporting in fresh water by 25, and if the apparatus depends for its buoyancy on air shall not require to be inflated before use.

Deck approved buoyant apparatus shall comply with the following conditions:—

Order.

(1) In any native passenger ship and for any voyage to which the provisions in the Act relating to native passenger ships apply any passenger is by contract entitled to be accommodated with space in excess of the maximum which section 176 (2) or section 178 of the said Act or paragraph 3, 4, 5, 6, 7 or 8 of the Order requires the ship to provide for such passenger, the said ship shall comply for such such passenger the space in which he is so entitled, and in addition thereto for every other passenger the space required by section 176 (1) or section 178 of the said Act or paragraph 3, 4, 5, 6, 7 or 8 of the Order as the case may be.

(2) If in any native passenger ship and for any voyage to which the provisions in the Act relating to native passenger ships apply the height between decks is less than six feet, the value space required for every passenger under section 176 (2) or section 178 of the Act (or paragraph 3, 4, 5, 6, 7 or 8 of the Order) shall be increased by one-fourth.

Provided that in deck where the height between decks is less than 6' 0" shall be measured for passenger.

(3) For vessels of low draught, a native passenger ship performing a short voyage in which, in ordinary circumstances, she will not be subjected to heavy continuous sea of port, making from pilot station to pilot station, shall comply in the upper between-decks at least eight superficial feet and four-inch cubic feet of space, available for each space between-decks passenger, and on the lower (weather) deck at least four superficial feet available for each upper between-decks passenger and eight superficial feet available for each upper (weather) deck passenger.

Provided that for native passenger ships performing voyages on the routes specified in Schedule 1 to this Order, main and a half and half-decks shall be subdivided for night and day-berths on the voyage.

(4) For vessels of fair weather, a native passenger ship performing a short voyage in which, on ordinary circumstances, she will be not less than seventy-two hours continuously out of port, reducing from port to port, in port-stations, shall contain in the upper between-decks at least one superficial foot and six inches of space available for each upper between-deck passenger, and, on the upper (weather) deck at least four superficial feet available for each upper between-deck passenger and one superficial foot available for each upper (weather) deck passenger.

(5) For vessels of foul weather, a native passenger ship, propelled by steam, or partly by steam and partly by sail, and performing a short voyage shall contain in the upper between-decks at least ten superficial feet and six inches of space available for each upper between-deck passenger and on the upper (weather) deck at least four superficial feet available for each upper between-deck passenger and one superficial foot available for each upper (weather) deck passenger.

Provided that for native passenger ships performing voyages on the routes specified in Schedule 1 to this Order, main and a half and half-decks shall be subdivided for ten and six in this paragraph:

(6) A native passenger ship, propelled by steam, or partly by steam and partly by sail, and performing a long voyage shall contain in the upper between-decks at least ten superficial feet and six inches of space available for each upper between-deck passenger.

(7) In every native passenger ship which proceeds on a long voyage on each of the upper (weather) decks shall be both subdivided so as to allow at least one superficial foot thereof for each passenger according to the voyage.

(8) Every native passenger ship which carries native passengers on two between-decks, shall contain space in the lower between-deck and upper (weather) deck for each lower between-deck passenger in accordance with the appended table; provided that no deck lower than the main below the head line shall be measured for passengers and no passenger shall be carried in any lower between-deck space when the height of such space is less than six feet from deck to deck.

the upper (weather) deck or upper between-deck at the system of the vessel; provided that such space shall not be treated as space on the upper between-deck, unless it is fitted to the satisfaction of the Harbour with sufficient means for securing the side-screens in that position.

(c) in the case of long voyages only, half the area of any foredeck exceeding more than 120 sq. ft. of superficial space may, if the Harbour is satisfied that the hatch beams and coverings are of sufficient strength, be treated as space available for passengers on the deck on which the foredeck is situated.

(d) space on the upper (weather) deck occupied by hoisting apparatus may, if the Harbour is satisfied that it affords suitable accommodation, be treated as available for passengers on that deck;

(e) if a space which would otherwise be treated as available for passengers in the upper between-deck has no openings through another space so treated, it shall be treated as available for passengers on the lower between-deck;

(10) (a) The provisions contained in this Order shall not apply to ships plying in or out of the Port of St. George.
